Choosing a pediatrician is a very personal matter. It's important that the practice meets or exceeds your expectations. It is essential that you build the sort of relationship that makes you feel comfortable asking any question at all related to your child without hesitation.

Discovery Pediatrics is the new practice of Drs. Daphne and Paul Horowitz. After three years in Portland, OR, we are returning to Santa Clarita and creating a different sort of pediatric experience. Discovery Pediatrics promises accessible top quality care with an emphasis on service and trust. We will bring new meaning to pediatric care. Our welcoming staff, warm, cozy but professional environment, and higher-than-expected level of service will distinguish us from all other practices. Discovery Pediatrics values your time and genuinely cares about your family's health. That's what we are known for—our sincere commitment to you.

Discovery Pediatrics is a unique practice; there is a fee to cover costs that are not normally paid by traditional insurance. We will also bill insurance in the same way a traditional office bills insurance companies. Our practice will limit the number of children enrolled, in order to provide superior service.
